MAY 24th TO BE RED CROSS DAY

Full Days' Program To Be Arranged For Benefit Of The Society

The committee of the local branch of the Red Cross Society have decided to make May the 24th a Red Cross day. Last year the same idea was carried out and the Society was greatly enriched thereby. There will be sports and games in the afternoon and in the evening there will be a dance at the I.O.O.F. hall. Committees will shortly be at work on the programme and a further announcement will be made later.

VULCAN CHURCH NEWS

The services last Sabbath were of peculiar interest both morning and evening. In the morning the attendance of so many children was noticeable. The Rev. Schrag delivered a "Camouflaged" address. Whilst addressed ostensibly to the children present, it reached many of the elders who listened to an address to the children that held much for them. The text was: "The love of money is the root of all evil." (1st Timothy, 6-10.)

In the evening Mr. Schrag broke away from the usual sermon and spoke of the effect the news of the reverse the Allies have suffered should have on us as a people. The reverse, though not altogether unlooked for, for reverses as well as successes come in the fortunes of war, must be accepted as authentic and holds its lesson for all. Too much indifference as to the outcome of the war is evidenced by many, the material gain to the individual by the continuance of it more considered than the cause we are fighting for. The power of the nation that holds that the sword is the dictator of the world's political policy is but a small matter relatively when the mighty cause of Right is ours. Reverses have to come, let us be chastened, not overconfident with indifference, but confident that the right, all things being equal, must prevail. Are we downhearted? No! The preparation for the continuance of the struggle must go on. England as evidenced by the long rows of ambulances at the railway stations, knew what the cost of the struggle would be, and prepared for the overflow from the base hospitals. Let us cheer each other. Let no craven word be uttered, but let confidence in the outcome be our watchword. Let no base criticisms of what has happened be permitted; let us do our share in this land of peace and wait the time that will prove that Right is Right. Miss Peace sang most feelingly during the service: "Some sweet day."

At the close of the service the congregation sang the National Anthem with a fervour that showed all hearts were in unison with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Schrag.

LOCAL WEDDING

Mr. Roy Ferguson and Miss Stella Mutz were married in Calgary last weekend. They returned on Sunday night's train and on their arrival a reception of some spirit was awaiting them. The newly married pair were seated in a buggy which attached to a Mitchell car, and toated around town to the great delight of the perpetrators. Fortunately Roy is a decent sort of a stick and let the boys have all the fun they could get out of it, which appeared to be a great deal. The "Advocate" joins with their many friends in extending hearty wishes.

DEPOT IMPROVEMENTS

The depot is now wired for electricity and the new lights have replaced the old oil lamps. Agent Craig has no information to offer as to when the company will proceed with the extension of the freight shed. The job is to be done, orders to that effect having gone through, but he does not know when the work will be commenced.

In private conversation Mr. Craig informs us that he will be more than glad when April 1st arrives and he will be rid of the worry of handing out the small oblong boxes. Anything in the way of liquor shipped previous to midnight March 31st can be delivered from the depot up to the 1st of May. Mr. Craig, however, does not anticipate that the local shippers will care to leave their goods in bond longer than is absolutely necessary.

FARM HOUSE LOST IN FIRE

Fire completely destroyed the house and furniture, a granary and a wagon of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Lommatsch on their farm south of town on Friday last at noon. The cause of the outbreak is unknown.

Mrs. Lommatsch was the only person in the house at the time. Noticing a smell of smoke she tried to locate the fire. Meanwhile it was growing and she telephoned to call Mr. Lommatsch who was in Vulcan. The telephone was on fire and by this time the flames had grown to such an extent that Mrs. Lommatsch was barely able to make her escape through a window. Mr. Hans Lundgren went to assistance but could do nothing. In the meantime Vulcan had been communicated with a four auto loads of fire fighters set out, one breaking down on the way, but they could do nothing more than watch the fire when they arrived on the scene. The loss was practically covered by insurance.

Mr. Lommatsch will build another house on the farm, and he may also build in town.

THE VILLAGE DOCTOR

The Opera House was packed to overflowing on Monday night when the members of the L.U.B.A. Club presented the play "The Village Doctor."

Throughout the evening the performance went with a swing and the audience was kept in good humor all the way through. Mr. W. D. Allen, who took the part of the doctor, handled it with great ability, and he received very able support from Miss McClement as Miss Crane. As a matter of fact all the parts were well taken.

The last act of the play was in the form of a concert, and pleasing solos were given by Miss Lavina Wilson, Miss Annie Smart and Miss Peace. Readings of a humorous nature were also given by Miss Peace, Mr. Ray Davis found a large backing for his performance on the mouthorgan.

As a result of the performance the L.U.B.A. and the Red Cross will be enriched to the extent of $75 each.

REGARDING RED CROSS FEES

The treasurer of the local branch of the Red Cross Society reports that a number of the annual associate and membership fees to the Society for the year are still outstanding, and he will be glad if those who have not yet paid will kindly do so. The fees are $1.00 and $2.00 respectively. In the past it has been the custom to collect these fees by canvassing, and many of them have been got thereby this year, but as there are still some outstanding and an early payment is desired, those who have not yet paid are asked to do so as soon as possible.

RED CROSS LIFE MEMBERS

The following is a list of the life members of the Red Cross Society, Vulcan: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindsay, Mesdames W. H. Sale, J. T. Oliver, G. M. Whicher, A. G. Dickinson, R. W. Glover, L. W. ### RED CROSS "AT HOME" DAY

The ladies of the Red Cross Society are going to hold an "at home" day on Thursday, April 18th, when the ladies of the town and country will receive an invitation to be present.

The programme will consist of an address on the work of the Society, music, and an exhibition of what work the local branch is turning out.

Mr. G. L. Johnson was down from Calgary on business yesterday.

The members of the L.U.B.A. Club desire to thank the I. O. O. F. lodge for the use of their hall for rehearsal purposes.

Special Easter services will be held at the Vulcan church on Sunday. Communion will be observed at the morning service. The choir will be augmented and provide appropriate music.

The members of the Rebekah lodge are giving a dance on Monday, April 1st at the I.O.O.F. hall. Butler's orchestra will supply the music and supper will be served during the evening.

HOSPITAL SIGHTS

The following is one of the articles contributed by the Rev. Jno. A. Clark of Halifax. The article graphically sets forth a picture of what the stricken city was like immediately after the disaster. Another article will be published next week.

It was a fortunate thing for Halifax when the disaster came that the Canadian Government had almost finished a large military hospital known as Camphill. In those first terrible hours and days when the devastated district was a blazing ruin, and the motors and lorries were threading their way through an area more full of horrors than any battle field, gathering from yards and cellars and lanes the tortured bodies of the living victims, Camphill was the place to which they returned in the largest numbers.

Although the hospital was approaching completion and closed in from the weather, its equipment for the incalculable emergency that arose was so limited as to seem terribly inadequate. There was space and warmth, and some initial provision for the work doctors and nurses and cooks we suspect, but not anything like enough for the care of the hundreds of wounded that were crowded into its wards in those first days. I do not know what those in charge might have to report as to the actual preparedness of the hospital for dealing with the flood of sufferers which poured into its wards on December 6th and 7th; I only know what my own eyes saw when I went there to look for lost friends.

It was the day of the blizzard. The wind and snow were doing their best to make getting about out of doors a kind of heroism. Still Camphill was full, and its main entrance surrounded by a crowd eager to get inside. And yet no one got in out of mere idle curiosity. A soldier on guard required the visitor to say whom he was looking for and the name must be on his records.

It was quite impossible so early in the disaster that things should be otherwise, but Camphill looked to the visitor like a hospital gone mad. The large wards were crowded with cots and mattresses lying on the floors, on every one of which lay some blackened, wounded, bandaged, suffering, dazed creature.

It was a time when hundreds were as yet lost to those who were seeking them. We were all looking for someone we knew. And while the doorkeeper might have the name on his list he could tell us no more. We had to find out lost ones in these huge overcrowded wards, with scarcely space between the mattresses to thread one's way.

It will seem incredible to those who have known nothing of hospital wards except where everything is well ordered and in its right place; but these patients were in most cases so blackened by the fire and dirt or so bandaged that they were unrecognizable even to their most intimate friends. An attempt to overcome the difficulty had been made by fastening with a string about the wrist a bit of card-board with the name of the victim upon it, where the name was known. And so had to pick our steps and kneel to read these names. What we soon came to realize was that in most cases the sufferer paid no heed to our curiosity.

Doctors and nurses and V. A. D's, and waiters and almost everybody who would help were working as none of them ever did before. I am far from criticising those in charge and certain that everyone was doing his very best. That they did wonders the transformation that took place within a few days proved. But just at first it was chaos. Classification as to sex and age and wounds and needs were all forgotten. It was a distinguishable welter of human misery. There is a weird passage in Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables" where the reader is taken over the field of Waterloo after the battle. That was what sprang into memory as I went through the wards of Camphill hospital.

I found my old lady, but not directly. It was in the main hall that her son turned up and he had located his mother. But not his father. It was some days before we actually found out where the old gentleman was located, and then it was in a hospital on a ship in the harbor.

Mr. Sid Norther of High River, has taken over the management of the Imperial Barber Shop.

LOCAL LAND OFFICE COMES UNDER THE AXE

Policy of General Economy Does Away With Vulcan Land Office

In common with about twenty-seven Dominion land offices throughout Alberta and Saskatchewan, the Vulcan office has been closed, the department having concluded that there is not enough business to warrant its being kept open.

Mr. J. Bannerman of the department was in town yesterday and straightened matters out for the final wind-up.

For some little time now there has been very little business to do. A little proving up and the issuing of few hay leases was the sum total of it.

CHAMPION RED CROSS NOTES

A special sewing meeting for the girls of town and country is called for Friday evening next at the home of Mrs. J. Harper, Vulcan street. The local branch is trying to arrange a permanent sewing room which would be open every day in the week, except Sunday, so that the ladies from the country may come in any time and spend an hour or two for the Red Cross. A new knitting machine has just been purchased, and an exhibition of it will be given on Friday at the home of Mrs. Harper.

ABOUT GARDENS AND COWS

In the spring a young man's fancy may or may not turn to thoughts of love but certain it is that the thoughts of the man who anticipates going in for gardening turns to the question of whether he is going to receive any help from the council against the marauding cows of the district.

We do not like to bring this hardy annual to the front every year as there should be no necessity for it, but when, year after year, gardens are grown to be eventually eaten up by the cows, what can one do?

We know that the people who keep cows have every right to do so, and there is nothing against the practice, in fact, there is a great deal to be said for it these times. But we also know that for one owner who sees to it that his cow is not a public nuisance there are many others who do not give a cent as to what damage their animals do.

Therefore we suggest that some remedy for the nuisance be found. If there are not sufficient owners to pay a herder and have a pasture, then let there be a ruling that all cows must either be kept within bounds or on chains during the night. If neither of these propositions are feasible then let us think of some other way of protecting property, for if the nuisance is to be as great this year as it was last year there is going to be some vigorous kicking. And it will not be without cause, either.

BRINGING IT HOME

If ever this district stood on the threshold of the western front within hearing of the guns, it has been during the past few days as the German drive has developed in intensity and ferocity. Communication with sources of information has been kept up almost incessantly, and the people have been on edge as to the contents of every message. The excitement and interest was reminiscent of the first days of the war when the Germans were in their swinging stride to Paris. Fortunately for the world and civilization the Kaiser's troops were swung back and in the positions they shortly afterwards reached they have remained, with the exception of comparatively light changes in the fighting line.

And now, after almost four years of war with Russia out of the fight the Kaiser is able, with a heavily reinforced army, to swoop down on the Allied lines in an attempt to break through. As this is being written, the Germans, through colossal sacrifice have forced our line back and although there is disputed confidence in the British army, one shudders at the thought of how that titanic struggle is going and what it will eventually mean. Now that the die is cast and the fighters have entered upon what appears to be the final round, every man feels as if the fight was a matter in which he was personally concerned. More than ever before he views it as one of direct personal interest; the fortunes of the day are his fortunes. He is no longer a comparative outsider, one whom the war barely touches, for he has realized that her personally has something at stake in the great fight in Europe. The battle is bringing home to him his share of the fortunes of war, his share of the responsibility of success or failure.

Let us hope that the lesson will not be lost. In moments of tense excitement we are apt to regard things in a new, almost visionary light, and to day we each of us stand in the position of being able to make a personal stocktaking and ask ourselves the question: "What have I done to forward the cause of the Allies?" The answer to the question rests with each one of us, and we must answer it according to our conscience. The German drive, whatever the measure of success, is bound to lengthen the war. But the Allies must win. Are we there as citizens of the great empire to learn the lesson that the ultimate ending of the war depends to some extent upon each one of us? What ever we have done in the past, let the future hold for us greater sacrifice greater endeavour to the end that when it is all over we may merit the satisfaction of the victory won. The German drive is bringing it home to each one of us; let us see to it that we do not fail to learn the lesson.

THE EDUCATION BILL

Next to the department of agriculture the department of education is the most important, and this department has had some attention during the present session.

Mr. Boyle, minister of education referred with approval to the 45 consolidated schools manned by 146 teachers now in Alberta. By the consolidated system there is a considerable release of teachers, which is very important.

In Alberta there are 100,000 pupils; that is, one for every five of our population, which is a good average. Of these 5,755 are in the high schools. Referring to the unfair burden of the non-resident pupil, Mr. Boyle said that in future the district in which the non-resident resided must pay to the district in which the pupil goes to school ten cents a day, or $200 a year. In the matter of the serious short age of teachers the speaker said that with the breaking out of the war the supply of Canadian teachers abruptly ceased. When conscription came scarcely a physically fit male teacher was left in the province. School teachers were being absorbed into banking and well-paying industries. In rural districts the failure to pay a decent wage was often the cause of closed schools. Many rural schools pay $55.00 a month, while others reach the $100 mark. A minimum wage of $70.00 has been fixed.

Mr. McColl complained of laxness of some teachers in fulfilling their term contract, and suggested that the government force them to remain a specific time. Mrs. McKinney referred to the trying conditions in some rural districts and said that compulsion could not be used in these circumstances.

Mr. Boyle proposes to send a woman east to interest teachers in coming to western Canada. He also made an appeal to the married women of the province to interest themselves in teaching and thus help out. Dr. Stanley asked in this conjunction if it would not be possible to secure women for teachers if housekeepers were supplied to look after the homes in their absence.

The third item of the bill provides for compulsory medical inspection of school children in cities and towns. The school boards must furnish the inspection. Medical inspection will be extended to the rural districts later. It is felt that medical inspection is very little use without medical treatment and this cannot be well organized until there are rural hospitals. However, work upon this too is going ahead.

NOTES

In a report of the recent Conference of women at Ottawa one of the delegates stated that it was likely that every man and woman in Canada would soon be required to carry an identification card around with them before they can travel on trains or purchase groceries. It is the intention of every person to register every person in Canada over 16 years of age in order to define the position and use of such person in every industry. All labor is to be brought effectively in touch with essential industries. Another proposal is to eliminate all pink teas and fashion extravagances. In this connection Ottawa has set an example by cutting out any smart functions at the parliamentary opening and in rigidly restricting any afternoon teas.

The provincial government is very doubtful about making any provisions in the health act this session, for the registration of cases of venereal diseases. The government's attitude is that the question is one which requires at least a year's study. The reason is that many people fear that such registration might be used as a club to punish unfortunate victims with publicity or otherwise, who might be innocent parties. It has been definitely announced, however, that the government will provide free Wasserman tests when proper application is made through a physician.

FALSE IMPRESSION OF R. F. C. RULES IS CORRECTED

Lieut. MacNamara, the officer in charge of recruiting for the Royal Flying Corps in this District, has written, asking us to correct the false impressions held by many men who come under the Military Service Act, that they must wait until they have been drafted into a Depot Battalion before they can make application to join the Royal Flying Corps.

On the contrary a man who is liable to draft should make application at once in order that the necessary steps may be taken for his immediate enlistment into the Royal Flying Corps.

Further information may be obtained from the nearest representative who is Mr. A. N. McIntyre, Carmangay.

WHAT THEY SAY

He says: If the women in the town would cut out the pink tea stuff, they'd show a little more patriotism.

She says: If the men would cut out sending for their little oblong boxes and send tobacco instead to the boys at the front, they'd show more patriotism.

One man says: Just wait until the home for feeble-minded really gets going, there'll be nobody left in Vulcan.

One woman says: If I started in to tell everything that people told me in Vulcan about everybody else, it would take all the soldiers in France to restore peace.

If only farmers who hire city high school boys for the land, will exercise a little patience and humanity at first and not overwork the boys, they may gain lasting results in winning these boys to the land permanently.

MORE than 100,000 Fords are owned by people in Canada in preference to the old horse-drawn buggy and other make of cars.

Your neighbors, and farmers in every section of the Dominion are abandoning their old buggies—selling their driving horses and buying Fords.

Ford cars are utility cars. They are built to endure the strain of constant daily use over rough roads.

These are the tests every farmer gives his car. The Ford meets them in a satisfactory manner. It is the farmer's car, so why not replace your horse and buggy with a Ford?

AT THE LEGISLATURE

(By Our Special Correspondent)

The chief feature of the past week's proceedings at the legislature was the discussion on A. F. Ewing's motion to investigate the provincial police force. Mr. Ewing claimed there was general dissatisfaction throughout the province with the work of this force in the enforcement of law, and that this was emphasized by the resolutions of the U. F. A., Social Service League, and other organizations. But the specific incident which Mr. Ewing dwelt upon and which he claimed were alone ample to justify an investigation were the dismissals of Inspectors J. Schurer and J. D. Nicholson, and the retirements of sixty-six constables during the period of the nine months' existence of the Force, and this from a total force of about 130. Inspectors Schurer and Nicholson were policemen of excellent reputation and long experience and at all times carried with them the confidence of their constables as well as that of the general public. Both had been trusted officers of the R.N.W.M.P. for years, and now, without reason or enquiry, they were summarily dismissed.

J. H. W. Kemmis claimed that the trouble lay with Police Commissioner Primrose, who was incapable of organizing such a force. Mr. Hoadley pointed out that the increase in theft of stock in southern Alberta had become alarming. Mr. McKinney was not satisfied with the enforcement of the Liquor Act and could see no reason why the Government could object to a reasonable enquiry. Capt. Barton and James Weir viewed the situation similarly. Dr. Stanley contended that Commissioner Primrose's stubborn attitude in refusing to employ plain-clothes men in the enforcement of the Liquor Act was the cause of the rampant violation of this law. He claimed also that this official was lacking in zeal in respect to the Liquor Act. Quoting from the report of the Social Service League committee on law enforcement he showed that during the nine months ending January 1917 this League had forwarded to Com. Primrose's department 346 complaints of violation of the Liquor Act. Of these only 35 had been investigated, that is, over 90 per cent of the complaints had been ignored. From the 346 complaints only 3 convictions had been secured, and $160 had been collected in fines. Then taking the seven months preceding the inauguration of the police force and while the enforcement of the Liquor Act was under the Attorney-general's department, Dr. Stanley showed 296 complaints had been forwarded by the League and the department had secured 103 convictions and collected $5,969 in fines. The contrast was all the more pronounced when one noted the facts: (a) the police force included about 133 men while the Attorney-general's force was between 30 and 35; (b) the earlier months under the attorney-general were 'dry' months following the coming into force of the Liquor Act, while the latter nine months have been 'wet' months, with increasing 'wetness.'

Premier Stewart defended the Police Commissioner and introduced an amendment commending the force on its excellent achievements. This amendment was carried on division, all the independent members present and the opposition members voting for an enquiry.

Mrs. McKinney and Dr. Stanley introduced by resolution the problem of the feeble-minded, which had been given the quietus for 1918 by the earlier pronouncement of Hon. J. R. Boyle. Both Mrs. McKinney and Dr. Stanley urged the claims of the feeble-minded in strong speeches, and succeeded in extracting from the Government a promise that definite initials steps would be taken during this year. These two champions of this cause felt highly elated over their conquest.

MASTERFUL WOMEN

And so the 2300 bank boys have to march away to the war, just like the rest of our 400,000. It is decided that they are not vital forces in civilian life just now. Once more it leaves the road clear for sister Mabel. "Onward and upward" is the cry of Mabel these days.

About three years ago, Stephen Leacock wrote a fierce and biting article proving most satisfactorily that woman was without business instinct, void of all power of mental concentration and worse than useless in the world of men; generally of no account. Poor old Stephen! How he must hate to enter the girl-equipped banks nowadays.

Seriously it does begin to look as if women were getting a deadly "toehold" in the business world. No one can deny that the lure of depositing money will be greatly increased if beautiful girls supplant the beautiful boys in the cages. Beauty everywhere in high white boots. How it will mitigate the blows which one sustains in the private office.

And the private office itself! Why not a woman there? It seems a sacrilegious thought to associate a woman with the chill white presence of the Bank Manager. But looking at it sensibly, all that a woman would have to do would be to undergo a minor operation (the encasing of her heart in a steel jacket) put on her best clothes and keep saying "No, no, sorry but I can't do it. The bank is lending no money for such purposes. No, your security isn't good enough. Head office would raise the devil, you know." "Now see here that overdraft must be cleared up. Head office you know." "How about that note? The bank needs the money. Personally I'd like to oblige you, but head office you know. Sorry, sorry." Easy? Very easy.

All business down town is easy.

Take law for instance. The ablest lawyer in the land can put his best brains into an alibi for himself, and his poor weak wife can punch holes in that alibi in five minutes. She gives him advice copiously and freely over his coffee and eggs. He goes down town, sits in a swivel chair surrounded by beautifully bound books and stenographers and charges $5.00 a word for that identical advice. Law? Fiddle!

On down street we go, to the drug store. Now if ever a business cried out for the gentle hand of women it is the drug business. With all that wealth of nice smelly material at hand. What little real progress druggists have made in the way of dainty tasty medicines. Since the beginning of things, the same old loathsome prescriptions, same salts, same calomel, same castor oil. Unregenerated man-brewed stuff! What a world of adventure in a drugstore for a woman with a taste for essences and dash of this and that. Think of quaffing a tankard of fragrant salts and shouting "Ho, druggist, prithe more!" And think of strolling in and calling for three fingers of castor oil, slipping a flask of it in your pocket for the children. It can be done. Bring together a woman with an untrammelled mind and a drugstore, and you will never know whether you are drinking it for the medical purposes or purely as a beverage.

We might go on forever to the butcher, the banker, the candle-stick maker, proving how peculiarly women could fit in anywhere. And will fit. And has fit, or fits.

The day is coming, gentlemen, when you won't know where you're at, what with the women running things.

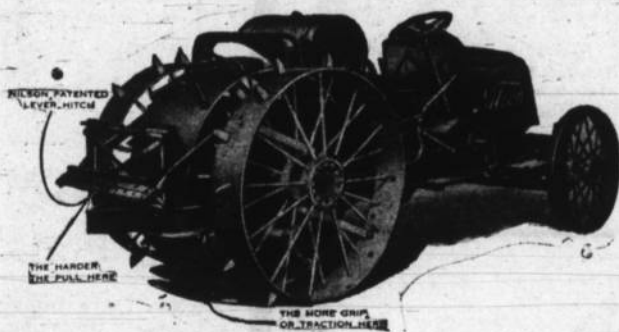

On the face of it man's down. Town life is very appealing. There are so many elements of delight, its leisureliness, its frivolity, its sociability.

And as for the work of it—schucks and hump!

ALL TRACTORS can pull a load over the ground or operate belt machinery. But the tractor that should interest you most is the one that is the most profitable to operate.

This suggests for your consideration, Weight, Draw Bar Power, Speed, Traction, Repair Bills, Loss of Time due to break downs in busy seasons, Comfort to the Operator, etc.

(3 plow). Weight 4300 lbs. No dead weight to drag around and waste your gasoline or kerosene.

It has a draw-bar power of three thousand lbs. (official test by the Hyatt Roller Bearing Co.) Compare that with other machines of its weights.

Speed: It pulls your plows or loads at from 2 1-4 to 4 1-2 miles per hour depending upon soil conditions.

The wide surface of the drive wheels prevents unnecessary packing of newly plowed ground and affords the maximum of grip for traction.

Nilson Tractors are 95 per cent all steel tractors, even the cylinders of the famous WAUKESHA HEAVY DUTY TRACTOR MOTOR are semi-steel.

HYATT ROLLER BEARINGS are used throughout.

Transmission gears are high grade steel cut and tempered running in oil. The gear case is absolutely dust proof.

All this means low up keep, long life and the minimum loss of time for repairs during busy seasons.

Nilson Tractors are easy to operate, comfortable to ride on, spring mounted front and rear, easy steering, only one wheel, (front) in furrow, making it self steering during plowing. All this means comfort and makes the hard long working days seem shorter.

Nilson owners have less trouble keeping help because the boys like to drive Nilson Tractors.

Demonstrations will be made at various points when the frost leaves the ground

MASQUE OF LIFE ABSOLUTELY DIFFERENT

"The Masque of Life" which plays at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, March 29th and 30th, is a film so absolutely different from those common to America, that it is hard to class it in any one particular variety of production. Most people would call it a spectacle because of the tremendousness of its scene, and the obvious way in which excitement is created by the very magnitude of the situations. Most spectacles of the past have been rather weak as far as story goes, but this one has a real, vital and absorbing modern drama, with the picturesque and magnificent features as a background. That it has caught public fancy is proven by the crowds who go nightly.

The main story is a romance—that of a young girl with whom a prince falls in love. They plan to elope, but the death of the man's father puts the prince on the throne and blocks his escape. He is forced to marry the pretty little circus girl. From a diplomatic standpoint he is forced into a marriage with one of the royal blood and becomes a father. He believes his little circus sweetheart to be dead, and does not meet her again until the moment when she rescues his baby from the top of a 360 foot chimney, where it had been taken by a crazed circus chimpanzee. The scenes on top of the chimney will make any spectator hold his breath, and the excitement becomes so tense that very often women scream, while some fainted, when this incident is on the screen.

Effects absolutely new to motion pictures have been obtained in the night scene, while the great circus building is burning, and the gruesome views showing the burning lion cage are in contrast to the really beautiful pallid production in an allegory woven into the film. For these scenes the entire Corps de Ballet of La Scala Opera House in Milan were used. Throughout the entire seven reels of the film there are spectacular incidents, and the story increases in its power, bringing the film to a close logically at the last moment.

THE ALBERTA SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE

At the annual convention of the league held in Calgary a short time ago, it was pointed out that the Police Commission to whom was entrusted the enforcement of the Liquor Act, failed in the methods adopted in enforcement, and a strong representation was made to the Alberta Government to have the Act more efficiently carried out. Complaints have been received from different parts of the province of law enforcement, but it is expected that this will soon be remedied.

The attention of the league was drawn to necessity of doing something to prevent the large death rate in the province. Many people do not realise that of all the deaths in the province, one-third are children under one year. Over forty per cent are under five years. Many of these are preventable.

Charts have been prepared showing the infant mortality rate in different parts of the province. It is true that his rate is not as large as it is in some other parts of Canada, but it is far too high for a naturally healthy province. And when the infant mortality of Alberta is compared with that in places where attention has been given to the matter, it is clear that something should and must be done to save the lives of so many who die needlessly.

The league is engaging a Child Secretary who will devote his whole time to this part of the work. A thorough study will be made of conditions in the province, and the reasons for a high mortality rate will be discovered. A vigorous educational campaign will be carried on through the country, presenting the facts to the people, and showing how conditions may be changed.

It is expected that a Child Welfare Week will be held in the large centres. Plans are also being made to have a Child Welfare Exhibition at some of the fairs in the province during the summer and fall. At this Exhibition there will be a series of charts dealing with sickness and health, the care of the child, food and exercise, milk and water, flies, and any other factor that enters into the welfare of the child. An address will be given by some competent person, and literature will be distributed that will help parents in the proper care of the child.

A Better Baby contest will be arranged if possible, being carried out on a larger scale than that attempted previously at any of the fairs. This feature has been worked to great advantage in other places and has done much to stimulate interest in the proper care of children.

This matter has been receiving that attention in the United Farmers, and the United Farm Women of Alberta, as well as the Women's Institutes and other organizations. The league is aiming to arouse public opinion all over the province by placing the facts before the people, and by showing the possibilities of improving the situation.

The league has also been doing great deal to bring before the public the seriousness of the situation in the matter of Venereal Diseases. Policy of silence has been pursued to long and matters have been growing worse, as they are bound to do where no move is made to prevent their spread. An effort is being made to secure legislation that will help to check and so far as possible, stamp out these diseases. In Saskatchewan legislation has been enacted that deal with the matter in an efficient manner and the Alberta Government have been asked to pass similar legislation. Their full policy has not yet been announced, but in connection with the Health Act it is expected that some move will be made to deal with the matter.

In order that any legislation may be effective, the people of the province must realise the need of it. The league has just engaged a man for three months who will visit many of the centres in Alberta, lecturing the nature and the danger of these dread diseases, and instructing parents that they may be able to give necessary information to their boys and girls.

This matter has been receiving much attention in the press during the past year, and there is a genuine desire on the part of many to have vigorous action taken at once to combat these diseases and prevent their deadly effects on the life of the nation. Here, more than anywhere else, prevention is much better than cure and an educational campaign will do much to prevent the growing danger, and to remedy existing conditions.

It is recognised that this is a difficult matter to handle, but the Government has been urged by many different bodies in the province to take action. An honest effort along this line would receive the support of all thinking people in every community in the province. If the new Health Act will give progressive action and a real educational campaign along the line of health, it will mean much for the public welfare of our people.

WHAT WILL MEN BE UP TO NEXT

On the first of April we go dry. Three rousing cheers! It is really going to happen this time Canada has taken her men by the backs of their manly necks and said "Be Dry."

It all takes us back to that prohibition vote of July, 1915, when our Alberta men deliberately voted themselves dry. Alone they did it. In spite of Ladies Aids, W.C.T.U.'s and all influenced for good they walked manfully forth and did this glorious deed.

They left home that fair July morning, quietly as usual swearing at the chickens and execrating the backward weat peas. At night they returned exhausted from their social obligations down town. All as usual. But in the meantime, like the Boy Scouts, they had done one good deed. They had voted themselves dry. Why?

It was not as if any particular consciousness of sin had come upon them. They were and are still weak erring mortals. Whether they have fulfilled the dryness of their contract is a matter of grave speculation. Perhaps the results of that dry vote are more apparent than real. Then why did they do it?

Only one possible solution. There is nothing on earth that a Western man can resist signing for, if he doesn't have to be paid for until the following year.

But now comes April 1st, 1919 with a dreadful mandate. No evasions or sidestepping. Be dry.

And hot on the trail of this prospect, comes the question. What will men be up to next? For men, as we now, can accommodate just a limited amount of virtue. Just so good. Something has to give. It is this uncertainty which brings the lines on are to women's brow. What new weakness will husbands bring home after this?

The commonest form of badness has been for friend husband to drift home a little late for dinner, bearing about him a certain unmistakable whiff (it is the surest wife-shocker there is). Fully sixty per cent of family fusses have been based on that whiff. Women hate this weakness but they have learned to know it, from the sign leading up to the ultimate result. The ultimate result is a period of abasement in direct proportion to the strength and working power of the whiff.

But after April 1st, what boots it that woman has this hard-earned knowledge. What new shock will men devise? Or will they walk upright before their women, wearing the white flower of a blameless life. Never again to hop the primrose path.

This it must be confessed is a somewhat disconcerting thought. So far women have been able to maintain a superiority over their men with little personal effort. There is a certain pleasure in having a man around who realizes that he is a worm and a heartless wretch, who sins at intervals in order that he may experience a long period of penance, and who knows that his wife is far above him. If men go forth to sin no more can women still remain above them with as little personal effort as formerly.

But we should worry. Women can always find something to stop men doing. Bound to stumble into something, men are. It is a safe reckoning.

In the meantime be gentle with them. They are entering on many a dark hour.

Never again a morning after. Never again will father bring home a whiff. But who can say what he may bring in its place—Who knows?

IRRIGATION CONVENTION

The annual convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association will be held this year at Nelson, B. C. To prepare for this convention an organization meeting is to be held at Nelson on April 1st.

The executive consists of members of each of the three western provinces: Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

F. H. Auld, of Regina, Deputy Minister of Agriculture of Agriculture in the Saskatchewan government, is President of the Executive Committee. Mr. Auld and many others of the Executive are able to get away at that time will attend the meeting at Nelson on April 1st. Robert J. C. Stead, of Calgary, is Acting Secretary.

In view of the big problems facing irrigation in British Columbia, it is expected that this year's convention will be one of particular importance.

The convention will in all probability be called either in July or August and since Nelson is such a popular summer resort those who can attend will be able to combine pleasure with profit.

A Surprise Gun.—During their recent offensive the Germans employed a new gun which has a range of 75 miles. It was located in the forest of St. Gobain, west of Laon, and was firing shells into the suburbs of Paris, 75 miles distant, every fifteen minutes.

A VERY PROMISING NEW WHEAT PRODUCED

Ottawa Experimental Farm Produces New Wheat Called Ruby

By bringing out Marquis wheat the Dominion Department of Agriculture did a service to Canada and to the Empire that it would be difficult to over-estimate. On account of its vigorous habits of growth, excellent yield and superb milling qualities this variety which year after year as an exhibit from Western Canada has carried off premier honors at the International Soil Products Exhibition in the United States has largely supplanted the old standard Red Fife that also gained for Canada wheat an enviable reputation in the flour markets of the world.

A service rendered by the introduction of Prelude a few years later was also of great importance, inasmuch as it extended the wheat-growing area of this country by millions of acres. To these two very valuable accessions to the hard wheats of Canada is to be added a new sort that comes midway between Marquis and Prelude in the matter of yield and ripening. This new sort has been produced at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by Dr. Chas. E. Saunders, the Dominion Cerealist, who gives the following account of the new wheat in the March number of The Agricultural Gazette, the official organ of the Federal Department of Agriculture.

"The new wheat, which has been named Ruby, Ottawa 623, possesses characteristics in ripening and other qualities midway between Marquis and Prelude. It is heartless, possesses hard, red kernels, gives a fair yield, and makes flour of the highest quality in regard to color and strength. Bread made from it ranks in the first class. This wheat is the result of a cross between Downy Riga and Red Fife. Downy Riga was produced from two early sorts, Gehan, an Indian variety, and Onega from Northern Russia. Ruby is recommended for trial where Marquis does not ripen satisfactorily. A very limited distribution of five-pound samples is being made to farmers reporting an early sort. A sufficient crop will be grown this year on the Experimental Farm to provide for a general distribution next spring.

CAYLEY FARMER ADDS FINE LOT OF CATTLE TO HERD

(Stronghurst, Illinois Graphic)
One day last week Mr. Charles Gribble arrived here from Cayley, Alberta, and entered into negotiations with H. N. Vaughn for a part of his herd of Polled Hereford cattle. A deal was finally closed for 23 head, including 10 cows, 6 yearling heifers, five calves and 2 bulls.

One of the bulls was Anxiety Sixth, half brother to Anxiety's Best, a bull which sold at the recent sale here for $3,500.

The cows are half sisters to the bull bought by A. O. Huntley of Canrum, Idaho, for which he paid $2000 and for which he later refused an offer of $5000.

This purchase increases Mr. Gribble's herd of registered Polled Herefords to 70 head. He has a farm of 1000 acres and a herd of 500 grade cattle. He is using polled bulls entirely and no doubt will soon be an extensive breeder of high-grade cattle. The lot shipped from here was a fine one and will add some good individuals to his herd.

JOKE ON PREMIER STEWART

In Premier Stewart's interview with the Social Service deputation, the Premier said: "Recently I happened to be at the local express office on two different occasions and was simply amazed at the number of people calling there for liquor during the half-hour I was waiting my turn."

The deputation roared with laughter, and it took considerable time for the premier to convince them that he had never bought nor had a bottle of liquor brought in since the law went into effect.
